Should they buy in bulk?

A big package can save money. But if the food goes bad, you throw it away. That costs money too!

O

Mr. Ortiz

- He lives alone.
- He drinks milk only in his coffee, about 1 cup a week.
- Milk goes bad about one week after you open it.

D

The Diallo family

- 6 people live in their apartment.
- They eat rice every day, lunch and dinner.
- They have a big closet. Rice stays good for a long time.

R

Rosa

- Bananas are cheap this week. She wants to stock up for 3 weeks.
- Bananas get brown and soft in 4 or 5 days.

K

Kim's family

- They cook with olive oil every day.
- They need 34 ounces of olive oil for the month.

Dates on food

Best by / Use by: the food is best before this date. · Sell by: a date for the store. Many foods are still OK after the date. If it smells bad or looks bad, throw it out.
